DR. KATTIYA RATANADILOK

Director of the Justice Research and Development Institute at the Office of Justice Affairs, Thailand Ministry of Justice

Dr. Kattiya Ratanadilok is the Director of the Justice Research and Development Institute at the Office of Justice Affairs, Ministry of Justice. With expertise in psychology, neuropsychology, and juvenile justice system development, Dr. Ratanadilok is dedicated to advancing child-centered justice and addressing violence affecting children within justice systems. Her work focuses on integrating trauma-informed care, child rights, and victim-centered approaches to enhance the protection and rehabilitation of youth.

Dr. Ratanadilok frequently serves as an expert and lecturer on Clinical Psychology, Criminal Justice, Restorative Justice, Juvenile Assessment and Rehabilitation. Her contributions include applying neuroscience to understand the causes of juvenile crimes and antisocial behavior, which informs the development of effective, evidence-based interventions. By using neuroscience insights, she supports practitioners and policymakers in shaping justice practices that prioritize the well-being of children.
